

Everything you see and experience is part of a chain reaction

13 February 2019

The address of God to man or through man takes place, like everything in creation, according to irrevocable spiritual laws. The different emphases and perspectives in the revelations result from the divine basic aspects of order, will, wisdom, seriousness, patience, love and mercy, according to the spiritual mentality of the one who receives the word of revelation. In and above all, however, love acts as the bearer of all revelations, without which a true word of God is not possible.

Divine Revelation

My sons and daughters who read or hear My Word of Revelation: You belong to those who feel in their hearts the desire to get answers to questions that move them consciously and unconsciously. It is for everyone who carries My Life in him - and all without exception carry My Life in him - something completely natural, something deeply anchored in his being, that he wants to find the source of the Source that created him and keeps him. Because this desire, this desire to know about your true home and about the way there, I have put into every one of My children.

That is the reason why all men and souls are seekers, whether they know it or not, whether they admit it or not. And since I, as I have often told you, do not lose what I have created, all are already on their way back to Me. Because in the moment when a spiritual being leaves the pure heavens, it is on a circular path that inevitably brings it back to its starting point.

It cannot be otherwise because there is nothing outside of My creation! There is no place outside where a soul could stay. Which means: Everything is and remains in Me and lives in My law! And since I Am the unconditional and selfless Love and also carry not the smallest spark of being insulted or injured and also not the slightest thought of any punishment or retaliation in Me, and since I furthermore have the will and the power to retrieve all that has fallen, everything will also find its way back into the womb from which it came.

Such and similar words are not new for most of you; but I repeat them from time to time because I want to bring you closer to the heart-logic, which makes you free children of God with an independent thinking, who no longer depend on incorrect teachings and interpretations.

Since the beginning of the history of mankind the opposing forces were anxious to prevent true knowledge about Me and My being as far as these can be grasped by man at all. Because they had success with it, I came into the world in Jesus of Nazareth. This made it much more difficult for the darkness. It now had to deal with what I taught men. Those whom they could seduce for their project - the twisting and distortion of My teaching - she found among the ambitious, power-obsessed, weak, ignorant and followers. It needs submissibles for its activity, which is directed against Me and you; because it can always only work indirectly, that is above and through men.

So already after a relatively short time, they suppressed the knowledge about it that I as the talking, the revealing God taught men Myself as I had announced it with the promise to send you the comforter who will lead you into my truths and wisdoms. It is true that the corresponding passages are still present in your writing, but the least thing that stands out is that I apparently did not keep My promises; and if so, then only in the context of the previously written and known, therefore, hence the wrong interpretation.*)

The result of this large-scale deception can be seen in the state of your world, but also in your personal condition: whether fears, worries, doubts and insecurity determine your existence, whether you live on the "surface", or whether you already go through your day with Me - and thus safe, knowing and full of trust.

"Can you say it so absolutely, so blatantly?" I hear you thinking. Yes, one can, when it comes to showing you a law that works in the whole of creation and that no one can escape. Because it is ignored or even denied out of ignorance, humanity has been drawn deeper and deeper into a whirlpool. The one who reflects [on this], will become strong enough to escape this pull.

I am talking about everything "flowing" continuously, that there is not a moment in the visible and invisible universe that can be described as "standstill". Everything - everyone and anyone - is in uninterrupted movement, animated by Me and My Love Power and thus directed towards further development.

Or it is pushed and driven by negative forces, which, however, do not strive for a forward development, but which they nevertheless cannot resist in the long run. These forces do not only accept destruction, but they use it as a means to reach their goals. Whereby they do not know or do not believe that they too are on a circular path, on their circular path, which is however greater and longer than those who have set out to find their way back to Me.

In everything that changes, moves, or develops, there is always a moment before and a moment after besides the now, this moment. And since there is no coincidence, what many of you have already internalized, and also an arbitrariness on My part cannot be involved, every event, both in the material and in the ethereal, must take place according to irrevocable rules. If this were not so, an inevitably following chaos would have dissolved everything again into nothing long ago.

Your possible objection that there is enough chaos in the world, which nevertheless still exists, is not valid. For on the one hand man has his fingers in the game here, and on the other hand, your chaos also follows My guidelines, which let new life emerge from every ash.

So if everything develops step by step, it can only be that everything builds on that and thus results from what was there before. That could have been a millisecond or also an eon: What is now and how it is now, has its origin in what was before and how it was before!

Therefore, everything you see and experience, is always part of a chain reaction. This also applies to every person who is not "just as he is", but who is so because he has become so, and not because I created him so! He became so because it was either possible for Me to encourage him to do good with the possibilities that I have; or because negative forces succeeded in moving him with much patience and skill to opposing thinking and acting.

In the vast majority of cases, however, it is a combination of both that affects man, with his free will playing a key role. Which side he gives more weight to, lies in the decision of the human being. This mental development, which resembles an up and down, a tendency that sometimes goes in this, sometimes in that direction, does not take place in the few years of a single incarnation. To accept this leads to a dead end and raises many new questions, and soon doubts about My love, and justice creep in again.

You come and go, My child, and you do so until your soul has reached a state of maturity that makes further progress possible in a brighter world without being born again in a human being.

So you became the person that you are now - that is, here and now and at this moment: shaped by what effects you have allowed on yourself, what you have given power to, what you have followed.

To internalize this knowledge and thus make it the - perhaps new - basis of your thinking, will change your attitude to many things and let you see the world, every event, your environment and yourself with different eyes.

And with it, that is to say after this more general enlightenment, I come to that part of My revelation that will demand so much of you, that here and there will cause a certain discomfort in you or also cause contradiction: It concerns you, My beloved sons and daughters, who live in a world and often also under very personal circumstances, which so many of you no longer understand, which they cannot classify correctly. This has led not a few people to no longer be able to believe in a God who "allows so much injustice".

It is not always easy to open one's eyes when one has been asleep for a long time and now has to listen to a waking call and perhaps even follow it. But My calling springs from My love for you, who not only wakes you up, but after waking up want to lead you on your way and accompany you on this [way], who are less worried and stressful than the previous ones.

The seed, which - as mentioned before - was consciously brought in by the opposite side and spread by ignorant and easy-to-influence men, has risen: namely the wrong presentation of the law of cause and effect, which is seamlessly integrated into My divine justice. Through this intentional misinterpretation, people no longer recognise the logic of My still smoothly functioning "Creation Mechanics".

For some, I became a God to whom one can still confess on paper without much thought, although many things cannot be brought together; for others, I became an incomprehensible God who does not have much in common with the love preached at the same time, and whom, therefore, one only follows with half of one's heart. And for many there is simply no Me because their intellect refuses to recognise such a defenceless and powerless authority or to consider it possible at all.

The embezzlement of the law of sowing and reaping was and still is the most effective weapon which uses darkness against Me, but which does not strike Me but harms My children. This was also intended: To alienate My children from Me by distorting the image of Me and My Love, which I depicted and lived as Jesus, so that ignorant mankind no longer understood Me!

To put the general contemplation more in the background and to direct your attention to what concerns you personally has the following reason among others: It will not be possible for you to influence the great world-karma. You would invest time and energy in something that is not yours. Nor does it make sense to want to change other people in whom you recognise or believe you recognise misconduct. Because on the one hand this is not required of you - except through your example - because you run the risk of devaluing and condemning it, and on the other hand it cannot and will not bear fruit permanently. This does not apply to selfless help that can be given at any time. For the way to heaven is not successfully taken by you omitting evil, but by you doing the good.

The only starting point for a change, which I support with all My love, lies in yourself!

My justice will never allow it, indeed it can never allow it, that a person will ever have something to suffer that is not in any way related to him.

Many of My children will not like this statement, they will even vehemently reject it because they cannot believe what I have said before or yet. They look at their life, do not discover much wrong in it, but on the other hand they see that many things do not succeed or cause them headaches and worries; that strokes of fate of the most different kinds hit them and their families, and that their life does not run as smoothly and harmoniously as it should actually be - after all they are not bad people.

My beloved ones, hold back your emotions for a little while and let us think together; so you will recognise the correctness in My words, understand the lawfulness and also be able to comprehend the solution. Whether you will accept it for your life and initiate possible changes, is solely subject to your free will and does not change anything about My love for you; also nothing about the fact that I am ready immediately and at any time to stand by everyone who honestly calls for help, even if he has refused me so far - and even over many lives -.

The principle that guarantees My justice is the law of attraction: the same attracts the same, from which it results that the unequal repels it's like. This law works in all My creation, no being is excluded from it. Thus, for example, it is no "coincidence" into which country, which environment and which family a soul incarnates, and with which circumstances and learning tasks man is confronted from childhood on.

Your imagination will never be enough to give you even an approximate picture of the complexity of this law. To give you a small example:

Every sensation, every thought, every word and every action of a person or a soul is carried by energies which have a vibration corresponding to the motivation and action. These go into resonance with similar or equal vibrations and thus interact with each other without spatial limitation. This means that a thought itself arrives directly in the invisible, spiritual, for you not perceptible areas, is taken up from there and possibly sent back with a corresponding "answer". Or it comes from there - but also from a human being - and seeks and finds you.

What he triggers, whether it triggers anything at all, depends on what it encounters, what it finds.

Everything is in constant motion, there is no standstill anywhere. It is a complex event that you cannot grasp, but it's effectiveness can be seen in its flawless results.

Transfer this picture to the totality of all souls and men, and also still take your brothers and sisters from the pure spiritual worlds, then know that it will never be possible for you to understand details of this law; what else applies to everything that I have let arise out of Me. It will never be possible for any being - also not for the mighty angels who represent My Being - to penetrate into these depths of My creation.

My law of attraction makes it possible with a person who honestly strives for a life in lived love in his heart, that this can be accompanied by correspondingly positive and supporting powers; and at the same time it prevents the negative from becoming effective or reduces it's influence at least to the necessary extent, which I allow for knowledge, for change and therefore for spiritual strengthening.

Admissions are something that not all of you already understand. They are part of the law of sowing and reaping. When something unexpected happens or something happens that man does not understand and cannot classify, it is often mistakenly called "This is what God has sent" or "This is the will of God". Believing this, cannot be more wrong.

My will is that I can guide and protect you because you follow Me. This results in a life for you that is free of fear and worry, based on trust in My Love; but this does not at the same time mean that there are no hurdles in your life. For it is necessary to learn something.

My permissions are also anchored in the law of My will, but they never serve as punishment, but are exclusively there to move you to pause and reflect. They are to cause you to recognise an unlawful pattern in your thinking and acting and to replace it with another behaviour in the sense of love.

Time plays no role in the spiritual, and energies do not dissolve into nothing by themselves, not even after hundreds or thousands of years, not even after eons. They must be transformed through repentance and reparation - or through erosion. Erosion is, so to speak, the last means to create an energy-balance in order to restore the energetic balance. The causer, who has shown little or no insight and remorse, must then bear in part or in full what he has done to one or more others. When he finally comes to think and to know, and renounces to fight back, he has stopped the otherwise spinning wheel of sowing and reaping and sowing and reaping....

Effects that come to light in this life, can certainly have their causes in a time far in the past; whereby this applies primarily to gross and conscious violations of My love-commandment. But also the small offences, weak points and imperfections, have to be recognised and overcome with My help.

But even then, when nothing unfinished from former lives sticks into your present life, everything has something to do with you, your life and your being. It wants to be looked at and, when it comes to mistakes and weaknesses, transformed step by step into strengths of character. Thus the soul cleanses itself little by little and the permissions - an instrument of My love to move you to conversion - have fulfilled their purpose.

To ignore and go beyond the indications which daily life, but also your fate, give you as a whole, and to attribute everything to an authority whose work and laws one cannot fathom anyway, because one "cannot penetrate into God's mysteries", will therefore not be the solution for the one whose soul searches for answers.

Life on earth, as you have often heard, is like a school. The teaching material is given to you in the commandment of love for God and neighbour, and My help in accomplishing your tasks is promised to you by My promise to relieve you of much of your work, by metaphorically meeting you with many steps when you make one towards Me.

What there is to learn is presented to you in your everyday life by My admissions, but also by each of your fellow human beings, he may be an example to you to challenge you or "only" to make you think about him, his way and his behaviour. Everything can serve to learn something or more about yourself.

It can happen that you repeatedly come across people who make strings ring in you [offend you], who are not yet "refined": be it in your marriages, partnerships or families, at your workplaces, in your circles of acquaintances and everywhere where the law of correspondence or resonance wants to initiate something in you. Then also there the temptation is great to seek or suspect behind it, [either] a mere coincidence or even an injustice on My part.

After all, it is only a matter of drawing your attention to something to which you have paid little or no attention so far. But in most cases, these tasks are not recognised as such. How do you notice this? For example, the detail with which you illuminate a situation from all sides and analyse how often you move the events in your mind, the intensity and detail of your narrative, the description of the rude and impossible behaviour of your opponent and much more.

This may all be right, and it may also be necessary to talk about it. But what really helps you, is something else; it's the real reason why an invisible law has set up the encounter that didn't come to you by accident: it's about showing you what weaknesses and mistakes you're still afflicted with; what made you react the way you did: irritable, hurt, resentful, highly angry, and so on.

In the sense of self-knowledge and change it is always about your reaction and not about why the other has done or left this or that. That's his thing and it's on a different page.

Even though this example is not based on classical karma, this situation can be seen and recognised as a part of My Lawfulness, which in this way, wants to show you what voluntary inner work still awaits you. You may also see in this picture that everything is a part of the chain-reaction mentioned. You couldn't react differently. This is based on your "yesterday", your past. If you try to process the recognised correspondences, your "tomorrow" will look different. And at the same time it will become the new basis of your constant development. Everything flows ...

If you wish, think about the following word, even if at first it should cause contradiction in you: "The strength of the other always reflects your own weakness".

It is not a matter of letting yourself be pulled down by the contemplation of your shortcomings! I do not condemn anybody, no matter how he is and what he does! I love. So don't judge yourself and don't make yourself small. You are a child of My love! But also do not seek guilt, or not only with others, when something unpleasant or evil happens to you.

This can only happen if negative forces have found an entry point in you. With My help close the weak spot and become strong. Because the free will, which I have given you, I have also given to those who fight against Me and you. They may measure themselves against everyone. They may cheat, deceive, lie, seduce. And truly I say to you: Their ingenuity is almost limitless. But they will only be able to play out their strength and have success where the soul weakness of a man, who does not take the commandment of love seriously according to his possibilities, allows this for them. Here then the law of attraction takes effect.

Who not only tries according to the word to implement My love-teaching but also expresses this through his doing, I strengthen him through My protection when his own strength of soul does not yet show the necessary potential. But to call on me only then when - as you say - "the child has already fallen into the well" will not bring about the desired success with those who have believed the tempting offers and promises more than My word; and who, instead of trusting in Me, have rather decided for an apparently easier way.

And before you start to fetch the child from the well using powers that do not come directly from the source of all life and My love, remember that in creation there is no greater power and strength than Mine!

Even if now and then - and as this time, the earnestness shines through in My word of revelation - so still be sure that it is always carried by My unconditional love. Everything that I bring close to you serves only to sharpen your vigilance and to give you help to facilitate your way home. Because I wait full of longing for each one of you.

Amen

) In the Revelation of January 14, 2019 it says:*

What do you feel when you are told: "Everything that is said through God must be measured by what He has already said"? What would you say to a school leadership that rejects the new and uplifting subject matter of the 2nd grade on the grounds that it is not included in the subject matter of the 1st grade?
