

Go as sheep among the wolves

14 June 2020

The address of God to man or through man takes place, like everything in creation, according to irrevocable spiritual laws. The different emphases and perspectives in the revelations result from the divine basic aspects of order, will, wisdom, seriousness, patience, love and mercy, according to the spiritual mentality of the one who receives the word of revelation. In and above all, however, love acts as the bearer of all revelations, without which a true word of God is not possible.

Divine Revelation

My beloved sons and daughters, as the Power that created and sustains all things, I Am the life in each one of you. Much too little do you worry about what it means that I, since eternities and for all times, maintain and let grow everything uninterruptedly. Humans, if they do it at all, always direct their gaze only to the origin of creation, as if this had been a unique act. Creation will never end. All My children contribute to it, each in its own way and according to its abilities.

What you think about far too seldom or not at all: all created things live; they live uninterruptedly, and this life knows no end, even if - from your limited viewpoint - it seems that with the so-called death of man, life is extinguished. Life is energy, and energy cannot be destroyed. So you live for all time, albeit in changing forms of existence and on different levels.

Who among you has ever thought about the mystery of life, which also concerns him personally? Who has thought about the fact that he has not only come into the world as something once created, but that this being carries life in him, which gives him the possibility to develop towards a goal? Doesn't every life, every energy have to have a source? Doesn't there have to be a starting point from which this life radiates and fills everything with energy? There can be no living on your own. So where and who is the origin? What sustains you? The food you eat or the air you breathe? If so, what does your soul live on when it one day leaves the body?

My spirit is in everything, including you. You wouldn't exist otherwise. What do you understand by "My Spirit"? Just a simple form of energy that - like electric current - makes a bulb light up? Which gives you just enough power to make the days of your life add up to years, so that you can exist on planet Earth for a time?

Your scripture speaks of man being created in My image, which is expressed very "vaguely". It means that I have endowed every creature of the heavens with many of My attributes, which the immortal, spiritual being also carries within himself when he leaves the heavens and incarnates. Between Me and all My children there is therefore an eternal, indestructible connection. In your true homeland, we exchange love, among other things, through this. through this I instruct My children and promote their development; through this I am always there for everyone; through this we communicate with each other whenever a child has the need to come to the Source of his life, even if it is "only" to lie down in the arms of love.

This ability of direct communication is so natural in heaven that it does not require any special mention if and when we talk to each other. Heaven is a united, and so we two - you and I - are inseparably one forever. Nothing fundamentally changes in this, even if a spirit being enters a human body as a soul for a time. But the influences of the opposite side make it very difficult for My human children to gain this knowledge, to let it become a firm conviction and therefore also a matter of course in dealing with Me.

Can it therefore be even remotely a consideration that I am silent? That I refuse to speak to My creatures? That I, the selfless and unconditional Love, have no ear for the worries and needs of My children? That I, as many people have the impression, am not interested in what happens in your world?

Is it not rather the case that most people do not listen when I speak to them in various ways? That they give Me no opportunity at all to reach them in their inner being because their interest is in the world and their ego? And that they perhaps also do not want to hear what I have to tell them because My will would disturb the circles of their own will?

In your time, words of Divine earnestness are more necessary than ever. When you believe in it - even better when you know about it - that I also live and speak in you, and you build your thinking and behaviour on it, then much has already been won. But because I can reach the few already through clear impulses or a direct address in their inner being, I speak to them through the language of the day, through what rises up in them. If they were alert, they could benefit from this indirect language almost as much as if they were already familiar with the inner dialogue.

In order to teach My human children more comprehensively than is possible for Me about the still often buried word of God in the inner being of everyone, in order to impart more basic knowledge to them and to enlighten them, I have called souls at all times, which as a human, were willing to take on this service of love. That was in the Old Covenant where My coming was prepared and announced through the mouth of a prophet as well as in the time after My work on earth. The number of those who speak the Word of My love and who make an effort to also express this in their life, is meanwhile incalculably great. You find them in all nations. They carry individual tasks of the most different kind in themselves and fulfil them in a way that corresponds to their possibilities and mentalities.

But they will always, when they stand on My behalf and are to a large extent almost free of their own ideas, announce a God Who is Love, Who neither threatens nor punishes, and Who will bring back to Himself all who once have left heaven. And this happens in a language that is not elitist, but can be understood and implemented by all.

The law of attraction ensures that every person finds his way to "his" group or "his" spiritual teacher, which at least concerns the beginning of his search or his turning to Me. In the course of his path and his inner development, which can be called expansion of consciousness, he will, if necessary, get to know other communities and people. And so his senses are sharpened and he learns to separate the chaff from the wheat; for in his search he will come across many things which claim to be Divine doctrine, but which are not of Divine origin, or is mixed.

To develop this gift of discernment, My beloved ones, is a problem for many a seeker that should not be underestimated. The word of your Scripture, "Examine all things, but retain that which is good," presupposes that you know the correct standard for testing, which you must apply. And: You must carry it within you! That means you have to test with your heart. If you think that only the word "love" is enough to distinguish a right doctrine from a wrong doctrine, then you are wrong. This assumption was valid before the other side - well-prepared and cleverly arranged - started with a large contingent of vassals to target those who, although they carry within them the desire for peace and harmony, for various reasons have not found their home in the Christian religious communities. Through love, light, liberation, ascension, transformation and much more, they are led on a path which, after initial "success experiences", finally binds them and turns them into energy suppliers for the darkness.

You come closer and closer to My heart and finally find Me in you when you direct your longing exclusively towards Me. This is not always easy in the beginning, because the soul may "starve". It has many questions and is looking for answers in esotericism, which are abundantly offered to it; even if in many cases they are the wrong. If you do not let yourselves be put off, if you seek the love that has come into your world in Jesus Christ, and that has again opened up heaven for all souls and people - that is to say, that has brought redemption - then you will find Me. Then you will also recognize that no other effort is needed to make the way home than love - and nothing else.

The law of cause then becomes more and more comprehensible to you, and finally you recognize in it the decisive key to understanding everything that happens in the world and in your personal life. And little by little you also accept that the circumstances in which you live are not coincidences or even a punishment by Me, but that they are a learning process, which I want to master together with you. Then you get to know Me as the One who also leads you through the worst storms of the time lying ahead of you when you do not let go the hand of love - My hand. Come what may.

Then you know that I Am the only reliable Guide; for I live in everyone and know you better than you will ever know each other. I know what you need, and through My omnipotence I am able to set the course of your ways to Me in such a way that you reach your destination safely and unharmed. Here it does not matter whether you turn to Me as Father - or also as Mother - or to Christ, who became man in Jesus and so became your brother. In any case, you are at the heart of Eternal Love.

When this comes out as result of "But examine everything, and keep the good", and when you decide to unwaveringly head for this aim with Me, then you are "in the right place".

For those who are still unsure or hesitating, I offer: Walk a path of your journey "tentatively" with Me. Which means: try more and more to live My commandment of love. Then, when things begin to come into order in your life, you may decide whether or not I speak from the truth and am your heavenly Father. You can always let go of My hand and practise former behaviours; this will not change anything about My love for you.

A person who does not know or rejects spiritual laws and only accepts what his senses tell him is like a wanderer in an inhospitable and unknown region who refuses to remove the bandage from his eyes. He can never find the way and thus becomes a toy for the forces that want to lead him around in circles, or astray. It is therefore important that you learn to look at every event from the perspective of spiritual laws, which are above all other laws. Otherwise it is easily possible that you will be deceived, even with your opinion about yourself.

It therefore belongs to the approach of the dark opposite side to prevent the knowledge about My principles; but also to cover up the knowledge that the fallen beings very really exist, that they intervene from their areas into your world affairs, and how this happens. In this way, since time immemorial, these forces have been able to lead their fight against the light and its followers largely unhindered out of the invisible. This conflict is heading towards a preliminary climax in your time. Those who were willing to look and listen carefully in the past, could easily see the development.

The background: The darkness rears up because it feels that it cannot win any more. The causes set by mankind over centuries and millennia are striving towards effect. The bad seed shows its bad fruits. In this phase, both sides - light and dark - must once again mobilise all their forces. Thereby it is about Me and My loyal ones to shake up My human children, to get them to think and to turn back. Darkness tries to hold its position for as long as possible and to allow as much negativity as possible to flow into your world, not only allowing destruction to take place, but consciously using it as a fear-producing agent.

Both I and Mine and therefore also your opponent have prepared themselves well. On the side of the light are many who, through a decision before their incarnation, have expressed that they want to work in the imitation of Jesus. Their decision was not infrequently made many centuries ago in your time, and various incarnations served to strengthen their soul-power and to work towards the events of the present time.

In addition, many of your brothers and sisters from the purely spiritual realms have chosen to incarnate to strengthen the great army of the willing who fight for Me and with Me. By this you can recognize for instance their selfless love, which by the way burns in the same or similar form - mostly still unrecognized - also in you: They give up an existence of harmony and freedom in order to dive for one or more incarnations into the heaviness and bondage of an earthly incarnation in order to be of help to mankind. And they consciously take the risk of becoming entangled in the earthly. But at the same time they also know about the unsurpassed power of My love, which is with and in them. Nevertheless, it always remains a tightrope walk, because the satanic traps set up have no equal in sophistication and variety.

The forces from the Fall have also made their preparations. They also sent their followers to earth and equipped them with gifts of seductive intellect, which on the one hand clouds My children's ability to think, on the other hand describes the way astray with bright colours. Two thousand years ago I came into the world to put My simple and yet eternally valid commandment of love for God and neighbor against the spirit of the times, which puts the ego with its short-term satisfying advantages in the center of all efforts. The state your world is stated in more than many words by which leader the vast majority of people have followed.

And this is your situation: Light and darkness are indeed opposite in the spiritual, but the venue is in the material, on earth, and you are the "pieces on the chessboard". Here the two opposites meet, here I have accomplished redemption and initiated the return of all fallen beings, and here, finally, darkness will recognise its wrongdoing and decide to return to the Father's house. There I wait for everyone with outstretched arms.

But it is not time yet. Darkness still strives for every foot of ground and for every soul. It has positioned itself well, and for a while it will look like as if it has the upper hand. But this is an illusion, if it also gains ground here and there. Eventually, however, it will stumble upon the effects of its unkindness, which it has been practising for eons, it will come to insight.

But the victory of light will not be a triumph over a defeated opponent, but will be carried by the joy of having brought home even the apparently lost. All contribute to this, who strive to make the world more peaceful and loving through their lives - in the place where they stand. I have equipped them with the weapons of justice, wisdom and patience. I have given them My blessing, and it continues to flow to them uninterruptedly and without restriction. Because like a good commander I have equipped everyone who has decided for Me, with everything he needs. This also includes courage, earnestness, but above all love, which enables him also - and often first of all - to lead the fight against his own inadequacies with My support.

I let the strengthening for My faithful ones flow into them as energy. Anyone who is only a little sensitive feels My influence. It makes many things easier, smooths crooked paths and opens doors and gates that previously seemed closed. Joy and confidence arise in many hearts, which recognise that while many things are inevitable, they also serve to create something new. In this respect you live in a highly interesting time; certainly not "by chance", I say with a smile with which I strengthen the certainty in you that you are protected because I cover you in My love - so this is also your desire and will.

The opposing forces have also made their preparations and are increasingly sending their negative energies into the world and into the souls of people. Those who represent the interests of the darkness know their place, some of them have already taken it and started to carry out their plans. Their aim is to make many people insecure and cause doubt through unrest and misinformation.

But also, even though they are followers of darkness who want to and will spread chaos and evil: I remind you that they are your brothers and sisters who are merely lost. The task of those who take their Christianity seriously and love Me is not to answer with equal means. Their task is to bring more love into the world, which will certainly not be easy in the coming time.

In another context I spoke of the fact that I will send the ones who are Mine like sheep among the wolves. Once again a time has dawned for which this picture fits. When you believe in Me and want to follow Me, the question will also arise for you at some point whether you want to go among the wolves for Me. In less dramatic terms, this means Whether you are ready to proclaim My love through your life even in difficult times.

*

Who decides to follow Me, his activities resemble a hike. However, it does not always lead only through clearly chartered terrain. There are passages that require the hiker's full attention. The danger of straying from the path like his fallen brothers and sisters is especially great when the path leads through a dark forest in deep night. A lamp is available for everyone. If he uses them without being distracted, that is, if the shine of his light always falls on the path in front of him, he cannot get lost; even if it is not impossible for him to stumble and fall now and then because he has not paid attention.

When he takes My word to heart that it is decisive to get up again and to go on, not much has happened. He has had an experience; if he learns from it, there is even a lot to be gained.

The other side knows about your journey, of course. It does not know you as well as I do, but your weaknesses and faults are not hidden from them. And now your logic of the heart is called-for: Would you let a God-seeking wanderer go so easily without trying to dissuade him from his path? Would you not try to lead him astray in places that are not safe and require his utmost vigilance? Do not underestimate, My sons and daughters, the means that darkness uses to disturb or interrupt your way to Me!

If your light unwaveringly illuminates the path before you, nothing or little can happen to you. Your opponents know that too. So they will move you to let your light shine right or left into the darkness, where interesting distractions and pseudo-truths lure. Or where they tell you that the path you have chosen is far too difficult. Or where they offer you alternatives and promise that it can be done without self-knowledge and inner work. Or they may make you think for too long about the distance you have already travelled or ask you, perhaps even worried, about the difficulties of the passages still ahead.

The moment you give in to these temptations, you either stop - you stagnate in your soul development - or you go on, but then into darkness, because your light shines into other corners. It won't be long before you realize you've lost your way. If you even follow the temptations lurking everywhere, and if you take one of the many seduction-paths, which may promise success and satisfaction in the beginning, then sooner or later you will find that it turns out to be a dead end or worse, a swamp or thorny bushes.

But that was not your endeavour when you entered the way which I went before.

So that everyone can find his way, I have put a longing in his heart. If you do not yet feel them to the desired extent, then go inside and ask Me to fan them more strongly in you. So that everyone who enters the path may also reach the goal, I have placed in his hands the aforementioned lamp and lit it. The more honestly you go forward, the brighter it will shine and the clearer your path will become. Then you will not only see a few meters away, but you will shine your lamp far into the darkness and you will already see the goal in the distance.

But you will then also sooner be recognised by darkness; they will then on the one hand disturb your light, and on the other hand they will try to lure you on their ways because with your going ahead, the danger exists that others would do the same as you.

So be vigilant, My beloved child, but also be aware that you will be safely guided and arrive when you direct the ray of your light as persistently as possible on the way that leads to Me. And if you got distracted: Remember My and your love and see that you get back on track as soon as possible.

My picture should be like a compass for you to orientate yourselves in the coming time. It is not easy to look carefree into the future when human ideas still determine our thoughts and actions. But you will always better succeed to fearlessly trust Me and My guidance when you have made experiences with Me. But for this you have to get involved with Me to become more and more the light, which shines into darkness and lets others become aware.

And perhaps you are then also once so far, voluntarily and out of love for Me and for your neighbour, to go among the wolves like sheep to also tell them about My love: not with words, but through your life.

All My love-power is at your disposal for your path.

Amen.
