

Divide and rule": it's mode of operation and it's consequences

23 January 2021

The address of God to man or through man takes place, like everything in creation, according to irrevocable spiritual laws. The different emphases and perspectives in the revelations result from the divine basic aspects of order, will, wisdom, seriousness, patience, love and mercy, according to the spiritual mentality of the one who receives the word of revelation. In and above all, however, love acts as the bearer of all revelations, without which a true word of God is not possible.

Divine Revelation

My beloved sons and daughters, what you are currently experiencing is a classic demonstration of the satanic principle of "divide and rule. Whoever initiates something like this assumes - and practice confirms the correctness - that a group or community can be defeated and dominated if they succeed in driving a wedge into it. Thus, two or more entities with different interests are created. The goal is that the parts of the community thus created become at odds and turn against each other or even fight. The opponent is then preoccupied with himself instead of recognizing the enemy and acting against him as a strong community.

This is not just a matter of setting one people against the other. It is much more effective to bring the division into marriages, families, friendships, acquaintanceships, associations, etc., because the sometimes profound differences are thereby automatically transferred to the larger community; unless your life, your togetherness, takes place only "superficially". If that is the case, of course, much can be left out so that it does not become an obvious burden; but your existence is then missing crucial things.

Topics that would be worth facing by seriously dealing with their problems, are simply left out. The "harmony" is not disturbed. But can this be the solution in the long run? If, on the other hand, one goes "in depth," two or more camps of different ways of thinking emerge, which can only be brought back to a common denominator when the overwhelming majority sees through the game.

And that is not so difficult, despite all the propaganda and disinformation, if you are aware of the following and firmly anchor it in yourselves:

It is not I who separate in order to rule! I also do not rule, although I Am the Regent and Creator of all that is. I Am the Love, who since the beginning of the Fall has been doing everything to restore unity. But if I am not the author of discords and tensions, does it require great imagination to identify the source of discord, to recognize the author and to adjust one's own behavior to it in the right way?

Who now - because he does not want to do a little detective work himself for different reasons - think that I should call this source by the name, he makes it too easy for himself. Your intellect, your insight and your courage are required for your own conclusions. For on your path of development you shall again become self-responsible sons and daughters of My love, who gradually open up My wisdom within themselves and at the same time widen your consciousness.

This in turn practically means that you should not be blinded by information, no matter how cleverly presented, which is often enough a mixture of truth and lies. It means that you should use your healthy human intellect, which - even if sometimes still a little impaired by various, own interests - will finally lead you to see through the tricks of the other side.

I have already spoken about the fact that, when assessing problems of the magnitude that are acutely present worldwide and unprecedented in the history of mankind, it cannot simply be a matter of saying succinctly, "I just disagree with you," when you have a contrary opinion. That would not do justice to the dimension of what is happening. What I mean by this, I make clear to you with a small example:

When a dictator sits at the head of a people he has lulled with polished rhetoric and false promises, different assessments of his person and his actions can naturally arise at the beginning of his term of office, because his tactics and goals are not yet obvious and are only seen through by a few. If, however, he starts a war and plunges the country into chaos, so that great hardship and misery ultimately prevail, it can no longer be a matter of merely seeing his actions one way or the other. Then it's down to the wire: you're either for him or against him.

Transferred to your time, this means that in the long run you will not be able to avoid to look at your world situation from this point of view and - at least for yourselves - to take a stand. Again I tell you in this context that for the vast majority it is not a question of intelligence whether they assess and judge the situation correctly, but that this is a question of their own interests. For since I vehemently provoke contradiction with this, I want to explain My word to you.

Every person, provided he has the freedom to do so, will always choose the option that suits his interests in situations that challenge him and demand decisions. That is human, that is understandable and also not wrong - but at the same time it says something about him and also something about what he wants and which consequences he wants to avoid if possible. A simple example from the time of the persecution of Christians:

If the focus of a person's interest is the preservation of his earthly life, the decision "for or against" will be different than if not the earthly, but the eternal life following death is the focus of his thinking and striving. His interest has determined his decision.

This is how it is with everything you encounter in life. In the rarest cases you have thought about your motives; mostly it was not even a question whether you should decide this way or that. You reacted automatically and often enough set the course for your life. Hardly or never you have questioned your actions or inactivity, which would have always revealed something about you. For what causes you to think and act accordingly, is founded in the depths of your soul and can give you information about yourself, if you wish to know.

What does this now mean for yourselves in a situation, in which in the meantime the before mentioned division prevails worldwide, which - due to arrangements on the highest level and with the use of your media - has occurred globally almost simultaneously?

It is more important than ever that you look into what is happening, without fear. This is not easy; and it is all the more difficult if the relationship between Me and you still lacks some trust; if life with Me has not yet become a matter of course for you - as your soul desires - which permeates and determines your everyday life in all matters. Because only then, when you look at the development unburdened by fears and worries, it will be possible for you to recognize the truth. Otherwise you are slaves of your interests. Your view of the reality and truth behind things is clouded.

This can include that you do not want to deal with all this so much and therefore prefer the seemingly easier option of "swimming along in the stream", because a confrontation with the topic would possibly bring insights and require setting a course that would stand in the way of you people's various interests. This must not only be about the pandemic, but also about the many unthinkable things that the time ahead of you will bring, with or without the pandemic. The renunciation of things you have come to love, is also part of it; as is the preoccupation with the question of how your lives will overall be shaped.

Even if it doesn't seem so at first glance, fear - a proven tool of the other side - also belongs to the category of interests that determine your behavior. This can be fear for your own health or life, but also fear for family members, friends and more. Fear always generates the desire to avoid a situation if possible, i.e. to behave in such a way that the feeling of an, albeit questionable, security is given. However, security is then not sought with and in Me, but in solutions offered by those who have previously created the anxiety-provoking situation in the first place.

In doing so, it is not recognized or forgotten that security can only and exclusively be found in Me. Everything else is an illusory security, which resembles a bubble, which bursts at the first strain and causes "weeping and gnashing of teeth". Which, of course, is concealed from you and replaced by promises that cannot be kept - which is also not intended and was never intended.

Thus, many are literally in a "vicious cycle" into which they could be drawn because they did not pay attention to something: to make the effort to come to Me full of trust in their inner being, to discuss their worries with Me and to look at the behavior of the powerful in your world in love and without condemnation and to recognize the true intentions behind it. Or because they do not even know about the possibility of intensive, loving communication with Me and of letting themselves fall into My hands, which is more than just a prayer spoken with the lips.

My sons and daughters, the only one who knows what the time ahead will bring you, is I. Therefore, it is wise of you to leave the preparation and execution of your future to Me. Even then, if your planning and efforts are not burdened by fears and worries, your reflections can never come close to what I have planned for you. *)

If you want to "secure" yourself, then take time for Me, more time than in the past. Stay in conversation with Me; let us become even more intimate with each other, which is what I desire.

Even if everything does not always go as smoothly as your human being would like: know that you have entrusted yourself to the Creator, your Father, the original Source of your life. If you find stones on your path, which are often necessary to teach you something, do not be saddened or become fickle. In such hours, remember that I make no mistake, and that everyone and everything I hold in My hands, is protected; no matter how a situation may present itself at the moment.

To develop this trust even more than before, is the guarantor that you will find your soul-balance and remain in it. Because everything is designed by the satanic side to bring about doubt, uncertainty, pain, despair and chaos. At the same time, everything is downplayed, admonishers are ridiculed or eliminated. Right and wrong are deliberately lumped together and factual, well-founded findings and warnings are portrayed as conspiracy theories.

So it seems to be more problem-free at the moment to swim along on this wave and to be "in" with it, than to deal with what will come and what already many seers and prophets have announced. They belong therefore also - and this is the intention - to the conspirators. And I as the One who spoke and speaks through them, of course, also. Very few are aware of this, including all those who call themselves Christians.

What you are experiencing in these months, is only the beginning. On the surface, it is about a virus and what is being offered against it by your governments and their henchmen, the pharmaceutical companies, as a supposed help and solution. In reality, it is about much more. The magnitude of what is planned and has now been initiated, is beyond your comprehension. But this much:

If you follow Me in My statements that darkness has never ceased to fight against Me and that this battle is fought on earth, then you know approximately what this campaign amounts to: namely, the elimination of everything that in any way reminds you of Me as God and Creator, from Whom everything came forth; thus, at the same time, the eradication of the knowledge of My redemption through Jesus Christ and of the path that leads back to Me. Godlessness, all-embracing prevailing on your planet, which would then belong to the opposing forces, is the declared goal. And your earth would hardly or no longer come into question as a place for the development of souls. For the realization of this - against life directed, through and through godless - plan, people was and is needed .

This plan will fail. It must fail because My law is against it. My law is the supreme authority. There is nothing above it. You can also call it "above everything".

The powers of darkness accept a possible failure. Some even know about it. Nevertheless, they play this card because they hope to be in charge at least for a while and to be able to exercise control. After all, nothing can happen to them, who are at home in the astral realms. They not only accept the death of many people, but they strive for it. Thus, they believe, the power will fall into their laps.

They are wrong!

And with them, all those who have allowed themselves to be harnessed to their cart for selfish reasons, are mistaken; in most cases, knowing very well what they are doing. For them there will be a rude awakening. And yet, they all remain My children, whom I will bring back to Me - contrary to opposing teachings!

I have already explained to you many times why basically no power that is not of love, can succeed in maintaining it's contrary actions in the long run. I repeat Myself at this point, because the understanding of how I govern My creation is of great importance for your trust in Me, but also for your own behavior.

With the Fall, also called the angelic Fall, the law of cause and effect came into effect. It ensures that anyone who disregards and transgresses the law of love, will sooner or later come to realize and repent through the harvest of his previously sown seed. This law works with the same precision as all the rules I have created. It is a part of My order because it always brings back into order everything that has left the order. And because "at the end of time" it will make sure that everything will be united with Me in love again.

The satanic forces have made sure that even among those who are members of a Christian community, this law is known in name, but that it is not included in the practice of acting in daily life. Those who do not believe in Me - no matter whether they call themselves apparently Christian or are atheists - are anyway alien to corresponding considerations. Therefore, their actions are not determined by the fact that they think about whether they will have to give account at some point. When, then? In a life after this earthly life, which will find it's continuation in the hereafter, but in which they do not believe?

If they had knowledge, they would not abuse their power, which they exercise only for the duration of a few years or decades. For no man who has the appropriate spiritual knowledge and is in possession of his five senses, consciously acts against his own interests, against his true, his spiritual life.

But whether someone believes in the law of cause and effect or not: It exists, it registers, it works quietly and correctly in the background and presents the bill in due time. Nobody, whether knowing or ignorant, is exempt from it. No-one! And be he in the world for a while still so big and have so much financial means at his disposal and of a still so ingeniously working mind. No-one can escape this law and the judgment associated with it, in which he will be his own judge. The great fright will come for all who have deceived and who have allowed themselves to be deceived.

My law is as I Am.

This is one side of My law, which is also called - not quite correctly - the "law of karma". Karma can generally be understood as soul-debt. But if you look only at this, you overlook the equally important aspect: that not only the negative accumulates in the scales of the law, but - figuratively speaking - in the bowl with the "+" sign", also the positive finds its expression. Everything that you have done and are doing selflessly out of love for Me and for your neighbor is there on your soul's account, as an energetic credit, so to speak.

It already has an effect on you during your lifetime, prepares your life paths and often also has a great, healing influence on your physical health. In any case, however, that which has left good fruit in your scales through your love, awaits you as light, lightness, harmony and much more when your soul takes off its human dress and goes to its new home.

This process is wrongly called "death", because the ignorant man considers the passing away of a life-form as extinction, but in reality this is at the same time the formation of a new form of his eternal life. Life - to repeat - is energy, and energy cannot be annihilated. This cannot be brought to your attention often enough.

But to decide for a life according to the rules of heaven, must not be connected with the ulterior motive to be rewarded therefore and to be able to avoid many strokes of fate. Whoever tries Me out, whoever lives with Me for a while, will have his experiences. He will recognize in Me the father, brother and friend and more, whom he can trust without any ifs and buts. As a result, he ties the bond between us tighter and tighter, and our relationship experiences an intimacy that he has not known before. The protection and security he experiences inside and out, confirm to him that he is on the right path.

All this can and will happen without much effort on your part if you give Me your 'yes'. No membership, no entry into a community, no commitment of any kind, no vow and many other things are required. Your honest effort to implement My commandment: love - and nothing else, in your everyday life - is enough. Then the events of your time also lose more and more their horror; yes, they turn into the opposite for those who are willing to learn. Because:

Crises are opportunities for growth!

Because not everyone immediately recognizes the truth in these words, I will explain them.

Everything in My creation is evolution, which means that everything is continuously developing. This does not always happen in a direct way, especially where it concerns the spiritual maturing process of My human children. Nothing and nobody is exempt from a constant further and upward development. Learning processes appear on the scene, which have to be tackled and mastered by all My human children - by those who are willing to learn as well as by those who are unwilling.

Where resistance leads to standstill or regression, it causes the unreasonable ones aggravated conditions, which however are to be looked for in their own behavior and do not occur because the non-learner is to be punished with it. It has the background to induce him to deal with what he now encounters in order to be able to draw his conclusions and make his experiences.

This can be compared to childhood illnesses, which, when overcome, have strengthened the immune system. The adolescent and later adult also does not progress in his personal development without dealing with what comes across as annoying, unpleasant, problematic, dangerous and burdensome. This is no different in the psychological sphere.

I have explained to you in countless revelations in detail the tools for dealing with crises and what they bring with them in their wake. So it can never be a question of sidestepping a crisis - which is not possible in the long run anyway - but the task always arises to recognize the problem and to approach its treatment in the right way. Which means: to probe, to weigh, to decide and to act with Me and with a clear view.

This does not cancel My word that you may come to Me with everything that moves and depresses you. Of course, you can also give Me your fear. But to give it to Me alone in prayer without looking into yourselves what causes this fear, is not a sustainable solution. Come to Me with the cause of your fear, which you have recognized and want to let go of, and ask Me to help you overcome the root evil from which the fear feeds. Then you will feel My help and realize that the positive effects in you will be incomparably greater than if you merely lay your fear before Me without doing anything yourself.

Insofar as a crisis affects only yourselves, it is useful to recognize your own part, which is always present to a lesser or greater extent in everything that is difficult and unpleasant. Seeing through the background of a crisis that is not only a personal one but, as in the current case, occurs worldwide, requires a little more. It presupposes far-reaching clarity, which is only sufficiently given where no or little fear prevails and one's own interests do not stand in the way of a deeper view of things.

If such a readiness is present, then I Am at your side to make a learning process out of a crisis by overcoming the problems, which brings you a big step forward on your way to your spiritual maturation, and which - looking back and in retrospect - always lets you be grateful.

Do not reject My words, My beloved! Whatever the time ahead will bring: In any case, it makes more sense to deal with the questions that occupy you - often without you knowing or wanting it - than to blindly follow the instructions of those who are responsible or co-responsible for what is now facing and happening to the world.

The effects of "divide and rule" cannot be avoided. Too many people are prepared to follow the superiors blindly, fearfully and without thinking. Nevertheless, a counter pole can be established in the spiritual by those who see through the game. The prerequisite, however, is - also in this point I repeat Myself - to deal with the causers and their vassals in thoughts and in deed clearly, but in love. In this way you can also prevent that you burden yourselves through - in the sense of love - non-lawful actions and reactions. Sending light and love into the world from the heart and praying for the deceived, is the most effective way. Even if the fruits of such inner work are not always immediately apparent.

Remain in the certainty that nothing escapes Me; that I have everything in My hand.

Amen

"If you want to make God laugh, tell him about your plans."
