

A special tool to help with decisions

28 February 2021

The address of God to man or through man takes place, like everything in creation, according to irrevocable spiritual laws. The different emphases and perspectives in the revelations result from the divine basic aspects of order, will, wisdom, seriousness, patience, love and mercy, according to the spiritual mentality of the one who receives the word of revelation. In and above all, however, love acts as the bearer of all revelations, without which a true word of God is not possible.

Divine Revelation

My sons and daughters, many of you are concerned with the question of why I have not so far taken up the subject of "vaccination", and, if possible, in such concrete terms that you subsequently know what you should or should not do.

Think for yourselves, My beloved ones, what that would mean. And do not forget that you are free creatures of My love whose task, among other things, is to develop self-responsibility again on their way back to Me. That I do not leave you alone in this, but give you help upon help, is beyond question and is experienced uninterruptedly by those who have entered into a close and loving relationship with Me.

The gift of free will excludes that there can be instructions or prohibitions on My part. For this there are commandments and My offer to let you come to your own considerations there and to support decisions where a situation leaves room for it. At the same time, your independence is trained so that you - if you apply the standard of My laws, My wisdom and My love - become independent of what is presented to you as right or wrong and recommended or prescribed to do.

Admittedly, this is the more difficult path than simply swimming along with the flow of mass opinion without much thought. It requires your good will, a bit of thinking along and the courage to want to bear the consequences of your own decision. But: You have to bear the consequences in any case, whether it was your own decision or a recommendation or decision by someone else.

Ultimately, it is a matter of considering where you see the greater risk, to what extent your fears or other interests play into it and whom you trust: the help I give you or the representations from other sides, which do not always and not necessarily have to be in a contradiction to each other. But if there should be one, then your heart-logic is required.

Therefore, even though this is topical at the moment, it is not so much or not only about vaccination. You can exchange the vaccination topic for other topics as you like, because you will find yourself again and again in your life in situations that challenge you in a similar way as the present one. That is among other things the sense of an incarnation. In each case, the question arises as to what is right or what is wrong. What is good for me and what is not? What brings me advantages, what brings me disadvantages?

For people who not only believe in Me but strive to follow Me, the question expands: What is right or wrong in the sense of God?

Whether or not you then choose to accept the "discovered" answer and act upon it, is another matter. You have the free will to do or not to do as you please, without Me punishing or damaging My love for you. But you then at least know what would be the better decision according to Divine law; even if you then go your own ways, because perhaps external or internal circumstances stand against it and still prevent an implementation.

The purpose of such or similar reflections is also to sensitize you, to direct your view "into the depth", so that it becomes possible for you to recognize more and more connections; and also so that you learn to understand that it is not enough to believe in the "dear God". A living faith lives, as the term already says. It is a faith which is also more and more permeated by My wisdom; which lets you become more and more certain, but which also demands you - if it must be - to take personal responsibility.

*

Vaccination: Yes or no? I give you a picture about this.

Suppose you are considering taking out a large loan. Unfortunately, you don't have a choice of lenders, so you have to go to the only one who will lend to you. In principle, this is not a bad thing. But then you learn that quite a few borrowers have had bad experiences with the lender. Some didn't care ("There's always a risk, you have to take it"), others advised extreme caution ("I've suffered a lot of damage, I've been ripped off"). What will you do? You will ask around, and based on the information you get, you will decide. Unless, of course, you decide to forego the details because you want the loan at all costs, and you believe the lender's assurances that everything is in order. But if, because you have critically scrutinized, you have become cautious or even suspicious because of many inconsistencies and contradictions, your decision will ultimately depend on whether or not you trust the lender. For no-one in his right mind will do business with someone if he is convinced that the other is up to no good.

So, as in this example, it is not so much a question of "Credit yes or no?" - but whether there is such a good relationship of trust between giver and taker, that you can believe your counterpart. Whether the trust is justified, however, does not result from his assurances and promises, but from his behavior in the past.

When it comes to the question of trust, what standard do you want to apply to those who, at almost the same time, are not only recommending vaccination worldwide, but are also vehemently pushing for its implementation? "God's standard is love", is one of your apt sayings. And My love contains honesty, thus no manipulations, no wrong information, no suppression of contrary opinions, no secretive dealings. My love puts self-interest aside, leaves everyone the absolute freedom and never creates fear and pressure.

If you feel that those who are currently in charge in politics, science and business - quite apart from whether they call themselves Christian or not - fulfill these requirements, then this would be a good basis for trust. It alone should be your yardstick for your decision.

If you do not have this feeling, because you feel or see that already in the past they did not act according to My commandment of love, and this is not happening now either, then it is up to you to think and act accordingly. For this, you are given free will.

*

I have revealed to you countless times that My true message has no longer been proclaimed for many centuries. The watering down of My teaching has led to the fact that many people believe in Me, but that they have a completely wrong picture of what it means to live with Me. That which I proclaimed and exemplified was, so to speak - in a rightly understood sense - "radical" and eclipsed everything that had existed until then. The Christians of the first decades, who did not call themselves that at that time, knew that My teachings could not be implemented "left-handedly" in everyday life. Following them could cost their lives, which has also been the case millions of times over the last two thousand years.

Then the enemy came in the middle of the night and sowed weeds among the wheat, by which is meant: The necessity to take My words seriously, even at the price of sometimes serious disadvantages to which one was then exposed, became less and less important in the course of the following centuries. What remained was merely a scaffolding of My proclamation, a copy without inner strength. To live the Sermon on the Mount seems to be impossible even for many of your theologians today. After all, it was no longer a problem to cultivate many worldly interests - even if they were contrary to My teaching of love - and still feel like a believer with the idea of being on the right path as a Christian.

In this way, many of My human children have lost the feeling for what succession means. And because they often "let a five be straight" in their own lives without a bad conscience, they cannot and do not want to think about how those who are on top in politics, science and the economy think. Whoever is too lax towards his own behavior and not infrequently turns a blind eye to himself, will also not apply My standard of love to others - he will not be able to do it at all - when it comes to decisions which possibly also concern his own external well-being and his worldly goals.

In a world in which it is only about exploitation and profit, "faster, richer, further, stronger, bigger" comes first. There is then no more room for the observance of My commandment of charity. Most people are already satisfied if they are reasonably well off. How their prosperity has been bought - for which some in other countries has paid what price for it because they have to work under inhumane conditions - what secret agreements have been made in disregard of human rights - these questions are rarely asked and usually cannot be answered at all, because much happens in secret and remains under lock and key.

Whoever prepares to align his life according to My laws, will have to recognize very quickly that he will be overtaken and left behind. If he does not want to accept any disadvantages, then he has to join in - or he has to restrict himself. Then he is "out of the game", so to speak.

Therefore, only a few are willing to consider Me and My teaching as the most important thing in their life. Those who nevertheless make an effort know that their striving and existence, viewed in the light of their eternal life, are no more than the blink of an eye in eternity.

However, the vast majority of people, whether they occupy leading positions or are completely "normal citizens", unconsciously react in the many situations of their everyday lives in the way "their human being" tells them to. Thinking about behaving this way or that way is often not even up for debate, all the more so when there may be disadvantages for themselves associated with a corresponding decision.

Of course, those who work with the instruments of fear, promises and offers of advantages, also know this. Therefore, when you honestly seek your vaccination answer - or other answers in similar situations - make sure that you are free of wanting to postpone, have or avoid this or that in your own interest. This is not denied to you; but then your view is clouded. The trap of influence is set and wide open and waits only for those who - undecided, or despite better knowledge - fall into it.

*

Not all of you will be satisfied with My answer. However, whoever honestly examines it and also himself, will have to realize that it cannot be otherwise. And it will become clear to him that it is necessary for his own spiritual development to deal with many things which he - which is humanly understandable - would prefer to avoid. Take only My commandment of love of God and neighbor, in short: love - and nothing else.

This is said so quickly, it may even be affirmed in principle. On closer examination, however, a depth opens up that encompasses all areas of life and one's own behavior. It would be too simple and not conducive to your spiritual maturation, I would tell you in detail - for the undecided or half-willing, perhaps even prescribe! - how you should behave in this or that situation. I say to you: "It is right according to My eternal law! Act according to it or not. You are free in your decision."

I remind you of something, My sons and daughters: the often desired clear instructions from My side have existed for a very long time, among others, in the 10 Commandments. Have they helped humanity to break free from satanic bondage, both internally and externally? Is it not clearly stated there that man - among other things - should not kill, steal, commit adultery and lie? Is there a clearer answer to the question: "How should I behave?"

Do you think that a global answer to the vaccination question would evoke a corresponding echo in the sense of My love? It certainly would not; but as an answer for those who earnestly and sincerely strive and seek a solution, it will not only suffice; it will also bring them new knowledge and give them courage to continue unwaveringly on the path by My hand.

Turn inward again and again. There I am waiting for you. Be sure, My sons and daughters, that I never ignore a prayer, a request, a question or whatever it is. I also always answer you. But you are often not able to hear, see or understand My answer. I most often answer you indirectly, but if you are alert, you will recognize My answer in what you encounter. It does not always represent the final solution right away, because I adapt My address to you, to your consciousness. But it leads the honest seeker step by step forward and to the goal.

If you follow Me on this path full of trust, you will always encounter what you can accept without quarreling with Me. You will then finally realize that I accompany you in every situation, even without you having to take the detour via the law of sowing and reaping and only be brought to insight through the effects.

Therefore, let go of all thoughts of what will happen in the future. They are pointless and useless, because it will come completely differently than you imagine it. Unless you construct a building with your thoughts of fear, which encloses you and leaves you only little free space for Me.

I Am your Lord and God. My love cannot be defeated. And all those who entrust themselves to this love - that is, who trustingly come to Me again and again - will not be overcome by darkness. It may be that you can be attacked for a short time because of still existing fears. Do not let yourselves be disturbed or pulled down by this. I will give you, if you turn to Me, the necessary strength with which you will succeed in looking forward again.

So, whatever you decide regarding the vaccination, if you make your decision with Me, it is I who will guide you with My light and love in everything that follows.

Amen